

CALCO has limited funds to support the attendance of PhD students. Owing to restrictions imposed by funding bodies, parts of these funds may only be used to support UK-based PhD students in Mathematics or Theoretical Computer Science. The grants will cover part of the registration fee, and have a value of £100 - £150, depending on demand. To apply for a student grant, please email calco2011grants@ecs.soton.ac.uk, clearly indicating

- your field of study
- the institution at which you are based
- whether you have other sources of financial support
- a few lines of motivation for attending CALCO

and arrange for a short supporting message from your supervisor, to be sent to the same address.

The deadline for applying for a grant is 30 June 2011. Funding will be confirmed in advance of the conference, soon after the deadline, and the grant will be deducted from the required registration fee. Please contact the organisers via the address above in case of further questions.
